

THE NATIONAL TRUST GREENHOUSE

3 New Designs

Following the great success of our smaller National Trust Greenhouses we are delighted to add three larger structures to the range.

They are all freestanding with a central lobby making them ideal for a focal point of a potager or walled garden. Like the others in the range, the new designs are all named after celebrated National Trust gardens. They are The Tatton 2.9m x 5.1m, The Wimpole 2.9m x 6.4m and The Cliveden 3.5m x 6.4m.

Available in seven sizes, six colours and with a multitude of internal options, all of the National Trust Greenhouses are free standing and incorporate all the beautiful design features of an original structure; "timber" moulded glazing bars, ornate spandrels and cast vent gear, all made of low maintenance aluminium and guaranteed for life.

The National Trust Greenhouse provides you with a clean, ergonomically designed interior with the options of a number of the highest quality fittings including fitted bench, heater, propagator, reservoir, external blinds, traditional lights and cold frames.

"We are delighted with the continued success of The National Trust Greenhouse range. The latest additions are wider and longer so provide more growing space and flexibility for those with slightly larger gardening ambitions."

Mike Calnan, National Trust Head of Gardens and Parks.
